THE HOOSIER FAMILY PEARSON

Intensely interested in Pearson genealogy, Perley Pearson (1830-1914) corresponded throughout his lifetime with relatives, near and distant, to add to his knowledge of his forebears. Before his death, he had established his direct descent from English ancestors. Afterwards his granddaughter, Rolena Chapman Templeton, daughter of Clara Ida Pearson and Charles Chapman, continued to gather information concerning the Pearson family. She, in turn, checked family records, double checked old Quaker records and wherever possible kept family birth, marriage and death records up-to-date.

There are two facts to bear in mind in searching into the old records: first, the name Pearson is spelled Pierson, Person, Peirson and Parson, often by the same person or the same family; and secondly, the old calendar prevailed until 1752 and dates prior to that are sometimes old calendar and sometimes new, depending upon the individual recorder. This accounts for several apparent four month discrepancies in dates.

First of Perley Pearson's ancestors to live in America were Thomas and Margery Smith Pearson, who were married Feb. 18, 1683 at Pownall-fee, Cheshire, England. Their marriage record was seen in England by Dr. Albert Cook Meyers of Moylan Penn., the author of books on William Penn and Penn settlers. Thomas and Margery Pearson with his brother, John, and his sister, Mary Smith, all from Pownall-fee, arrived on the "Endeavor" July 29, 1683, at Philadelphia, Penn. They joined the Penn settlers of Pennsylvania.

At West Chester, Penn. is a record of Thomas Pearson's will, dated Oct. 16, 1703, and witnessed by Rebechal Coppock, Sarah Coppock and Morel Macy. It provides that Thomas Pearson:

- 1) Gives son, John, 15 pounds in American currency six months after death.
- 2) Gives son-in-law, John West, and his daughter, Sarah, his wife, 10 pounds current money to be paid in two years after death.
- 3) Gives son-in-law, Nicholas Rogers, and his daughter, Mary, his wife, 15 pounds to be paid in six months after death.
- 4) Gives son-in-law, Peter Thompson, and his daughter, Margery, 15 pounds to be paid six months after death.
- 5) Gives - Robert, his son, owes him 50 pounds which is to be divided among John Pearson, John and Sarah West, Nicholas and Mary Rogers, Peter and Margery Thompson and Robert Pearson, his son, with each getting 10 pounds.
- 6) Gives his sons, Robert, Lawrence, Enoch and Abel, each five shillings.
- 7) The rest and residue of my estate real or personal of what nature and kind soever proved by any ways or means whatsoever to be any right property claim or demand whether written or verbal agreement, I give and bequeath unto my dear and loving wife, Margery Pearson, to her proper use forever.
- 8) I appoint my trusty and well-beloved friends, Batholoneu Coppock of Marple and Samuel Lewis of Springfield, Chester County, Province of Penn. executors of this my last will.

It will be noticed that the will mentions a Nicholas Rogers as being the husband of Thomas Pearson's daughter, Mary. A record of Mary's marriage to a William Rogers in 1720 is shown in West Chester, Penn. William may have died and Mary married Nicholas Rogers or William and Nicholas may be one and the same person. There is no mention in the will of Thomas, a son who died in 1705, or of Benjamin, a son, who may have died before 1705.

A record of the property of Thomas Pearson, deceased, made by Batholoneu Coppock and Samuel Lewis follows:

There is a deed record at West Chester, Penn. showing land transferred from Thomas Pearson to his son, Robert. In this it is recited that Thomas had obtained this land from his brother, John Pearson, to whom it had been deeded in England in 1681 by William Penn before sailing for America.

As was the English custom the eldest son, Robert, received the largest portion of the estate.

From Dr. Meyers comes these additional facts, "Thomas Pearson, late of Marple, Penn., was vested with the right of 250 acres, the original purchase of his brother, John Pearson, and of Mary Smith, etc."

Early in the 1700's the Quakers began casting their eyes southward in search of new lands into which to move. About 1732 many Quaker families went from Pennsylvania to Virginia where they had obtained a grant from the Governor of 100,000 acres in the Shenandoah Valley. In 1730 at Hopewell, Va., there was established a meeting which had been "set off" from the New Garden Meeting in Chester County, Penn. In 1762 this group was joined by Samuel Pearson (Perley's great-grandfather) and his children, Mary, Enoch, William, and Benjamin (Person). Later, in 1771, Samuel with his children, Enoch, William, Martha, Benjamin, Hannah, Samuel, Jr. and Eunice transferred to Newberry County, S. C.

Members of Samuel's family had already established themselves in Newberry, S. C. His brother, Benjamin, had married Agatha Brooks there in 1752. His uncle, John, and his family had arrived 12-5-1760 from Chester County, Penn.

Many of the Quaker families living in the southern states began around 1800 to move northward because they did not wish to live in a land where slaves were held. The Pearsons were among those who moved into Ohio and their names appear in the records of the Quaker meetings in that state.

William Pearson, father of Perley Pearson, was born in South Carolina and in 1810 at the age of 23 married his first wife, Anna Miles, in the probate judge's office in Troy, Ohio. Later, in 1816, he married Mary Anderson, the mother of Perley.

William and Mary Pearson's first child, the eldest of the three sons, Allen, visited Perley in Bloomingdale, Ind., many times during his life as did Young, the second eldest brother, and Perley's five sisters.

Young Pearson was born in Miami County, Ohio, May 12, 1827 and at the age of one year his parents moved to Parke County, Indiana, locating on the "Pearson Homestead". His father set up a saw mill there in 1829, the second of half-a-dozen thriving mills which once graced the banks of the Leatherwood. As a youth, Young had served about one year in the Mexican war when he became ill and was sent back to Ft. Leavenworth and paid off. Shortly afterwards, in 1849, he married Sallie Ann Wilson and in 1854 they moved to Iowa and purchased a quarter section of land near Gosport, which they lived on until the last year of the Civil War. Dr. Pearson then sold his farm and was drafted into service, serving in the hospital corps. After the war he continued his medical career and practiced up to the time he was 81 years of age.

At the "Pearson Homestead" near Bloomingdale, Ind. Perley Pearson was born March 2, 1830. When Bloomingdale Academy was founded under the name of Friends Western Agricultural School he was one of the first pupils.

He was married to Eliza Elizabeth Duck in Edgar County, near Paris, Ill. in November 1851 by the Rev. William Hartley of the Christian Church. They settled in Fountain County, Mill Creek township, the following April and lived there four years during which time Perley served as assessor for two years and justice of the peace one year and a half.

Having sold his Fountain County land, he returned to Parke County and purchased his father's farm one mile southwest of Bloomingdale. After living there until about 1880, he bought the adjoining farm, one-half mile nearer town, which was called "Fairview Place".

An excerpt from a story in "The Bloomingdale World", Friday, Dec. 1, 1911, in connection with the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Perley Pearson: "Mr. Pearson has been a successful farmer and stock raiser and has added to his ancestral home until he is the largest land owner in Penn township, the family now owning about seven hundred and fifty acres of land which is divided into seven farms."

Although Elizabeth and Perley Pearson were members of the Methodist Church for over forty years, Perley throughout his lifetime retained a definite interest in the church of his Quaker ancestors. In letters to his granddaughter, Rolena Chapman, he commented favorably upon the activities of the Meeting in Bloomingdale.

More than a hundred years ago Perley Pearson set out to put down the story of his forebears and finally on September 1, 1959, it has been compiled.
